2003 HALLOWEEN GHOST TROLLEY OCTOBER, 2003

This years ghost trolley was the most successful ever. We carried over 2,600 passengers during the four-night run. A lot of people worked hard to make our ghost trolley a success.

A full car of passengers waiting to head north into the dark unknown. We're not sure who the pale-faced conductor is, but he sure sets the tone.

As in past years John Kennedy was responsible for decorating both cars. Karl Jones decorated the inside and outside of the Linden Hills station. Great job, guys!

Roy Harvey is the grim reaper. Roy patrolled the platform to ensure that everyone boarding the streetcar had a token. If they didn't, well...He'd take care of them pronto!

Far Left. The Catwoman (Lauren Long) was a Bill Graham recruit who helped us out over several nights. What a great make-up job, eh?

Left. My, what a lovely couple! It looks like Dave French has lost his head over Lael Beamish. Lael helped with car operations while Dave worked the north end skit all four nights. Dave has done a super job in creating and then acting in the north end skits since we started the ghost trolley in 1998. Dave is a real trooper!

The “things that go bump in the night” luckily do not include any of our streetcars. This great moody shot shows one of our ghost trolleys full of people waiting on the pedestrian underpass while Fred Beamish tells them a few scary tales to set the mood for what is to come.
